

Thank You For Contributing to Wikimedia Commons

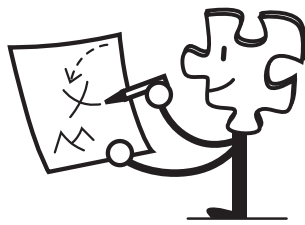

You may share works that you created entirely yourself.

Such as:

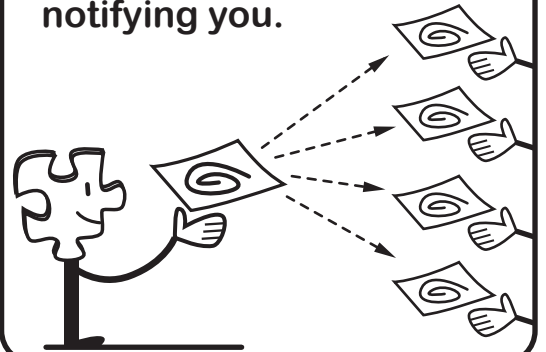

- photos and videos of
 - natural landscapes, animals, plants.
 - people that are public figures or are photographed at public events.
 - everyday objects not considered artwork.

- graphs, maps, diagrams and audio you created entirely yourself.

Remember:

By uploading your work to Wikimedia Commons, you grant others permission to copy, modify, re-use, or sell it without notifying you.

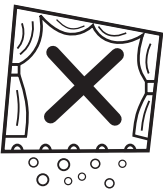

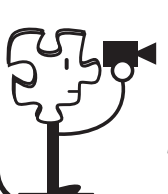

You may not share works that others created or that you created based on others' material or artwork...

such as:

- any copyrighted material (often — but not always — accompanied by this symbol).

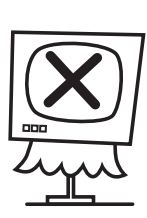

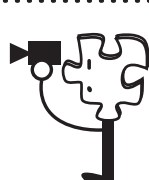

- “fair use” material such as

- logos.
- CD / DVD covers.
- promotional photos.
- screenshots of TV shows, movies, DVDs, and software.

- photographs of art, statues, and buildings.

- drawings of copyrighted characters from TV, comics, or movies — even if you drew them.

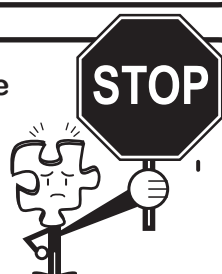

- media licensed under “non-commercial only” licenses.

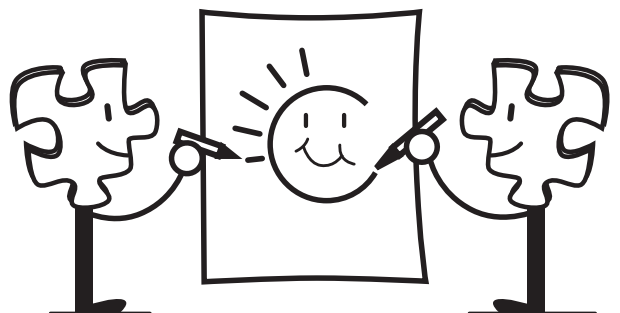

- work whose usage rights aren't specified.

If your stuff is described anywhere in this column, sorry, but we can't accept it.

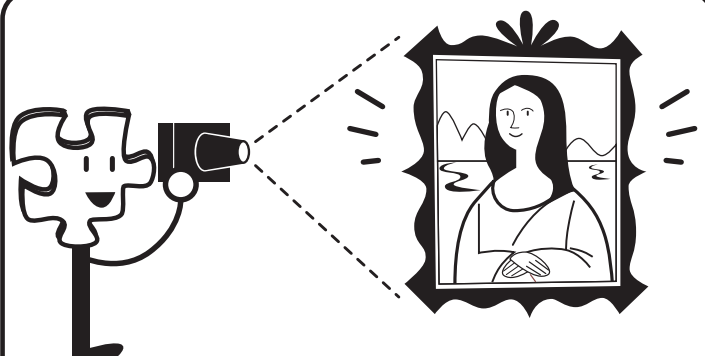

Thanks for your cooperation — we take these policies seriously!

...with two exceptions:

- You may share someone else's work if the author granted others permission to copy, modify, re-use, or sell it.

- You may share photographs of art, statues, and buildings if the works are over 150 years old.

If your material fits these descriptions, you're clear to post!

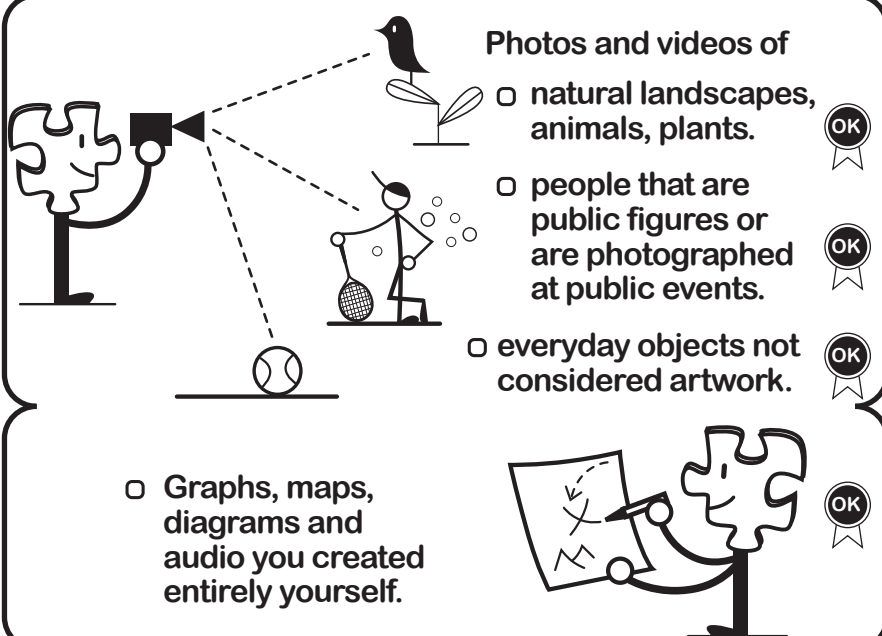

Still unsure? Ask on the Help desk.

Thank You For Contributing to Wikimedia Commons

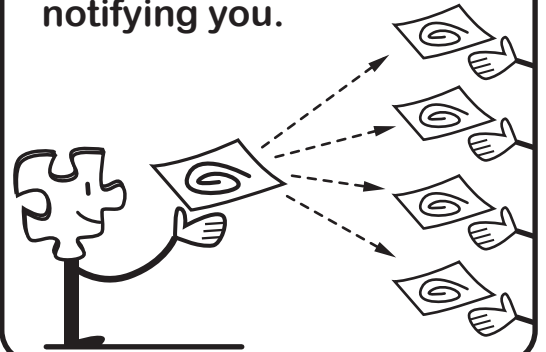

You may share works that you created entirely yourself.

(Such as:)

Remember:

By uploading your work to Wikimedia Commons, you grant others permission to copy, modify, re-use, or sell it without notifying you.

You may not share works that others created or that you created based on others' material or artwork...

(such as:)

Any copyrighted material (often — but not always — accompanied by this symbol).

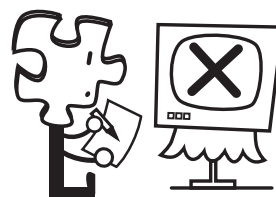

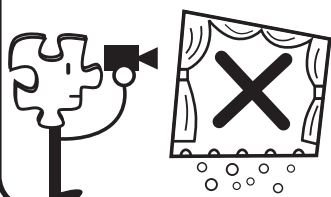

Media licensed under “non-commercial only” licenses.

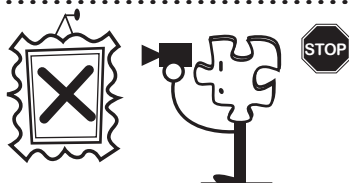

“Fair use” material such as

- ☐ logos.
- ☐ CD / DVD covers.
- ☐ promotional photos.
- ☐ screenshots of TV shows, movies, DVDs, and software.

Drawings of copyrighted characters from TV, comics, or movies — even if you drew them.

Photographs of art, statues, and buildings.

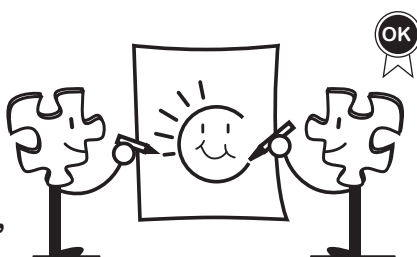

Work whose usage rights aren't specified.

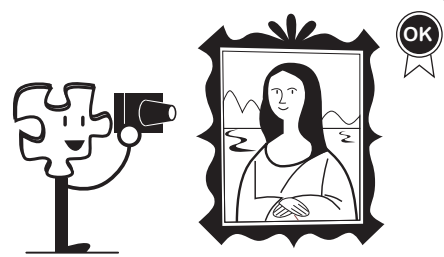

...with two exceptions:

You may share someone else's work if the author granted others permission to copy, to modify, to re-use, or to sell it.

You may share photographs of art, statues, and buildings if the works are over 150 years old.

In conclusion...

If your stuff is described by the stop sign, sorry, but we can't accept it.

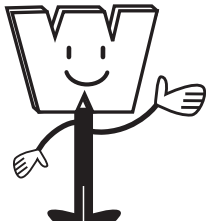

If your stuff is described by the OK ribbon, you're clear to post!

Thanks for your cooperation — we take these policies seriously!

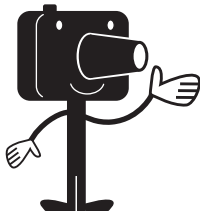

Still unsure? Ask on the Help desk.

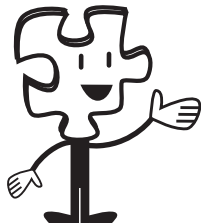

character options

W
character

camera
character

puzzle
character